1. SUSPICIOUS ACTIVITY CLASSIFICATION & TYPOLOGY

The customer activity referenced above constitutes anomalous transaction behavior characterized as AML CURRENCY TRANSACTION STRUCTURING. Multi-layered AI surveillance identified statistically significant deviations from normal operational baselines.

2. AI RISK SCORING & EXPLAINABILITY EVIDENCE

Machine Learning Attribution: Elevated risk driven primarily by: Transaction Amount (SHAP: +13.91, Val: 9850.0); Direct Wire Transfer (SHAP: +1.49, Val: 1.0); Near CTR Threshold ($8,500 - $9,999) (SHAP: +1.13, Val: 1.0)

Triggered Business Rules & Policies:

Rule Code	Severity	Description
R02_AML_STRUCTURING	HIGH	Transaction amount is deliberately clustered just below the $10,000 BSA regulatory threshold.
R07_STATISTICAL_OUTLIER_AMOUNT	MEDIUM	Transaction amount is >4.5 standard deviations above the customer's typical spending distribution.
R08_HIGH_RISK_CRYPTOWIRE	HIGH	Large wire transfer directed toward high-risk crypto, casino, or money service MCCs.

3. INVESTIGATOR DISPOSITION & FILING RECOMMENDATION

The Special Investigations Unit recommends immediate regulatory filing of FinCEN Form 111 (SAR), continued monitoring of correlated accounts, and referral to designated law enforcement liaisons.
